

THE RIGHTEOUS SHOWS MERCY

In the sacred verses of Psalm 37, a timeless message echoes through the ages, emphasizing the virtuous quality of mercy and generosity. At the heart of this psalm is a profound reflection on the character of the righteous, specifically highlighting their inclination towards acts of mercy.

“The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth”
(Psalm 37:21).

In this verse, the inspired writer portrays the righteous ones as individuals marked by their generosity. Righteousness is linked to a spirit of giving. Our Lord asked a multitude, “How much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?” (Matthew 7:11). You are reading this letter today because you are currently supporting or had supported in the past this work of the Lord. We are thankful to God for you and we made Him know about that gratitude in our daily prayers. You showed mercy to us even when there was a time when you did not know us before. You showed love and compassion to this servant and his family by helping us cover our needs while in Panama. You keep showing that love and compassion now that we are in Texas, but you know better than us that it is not easy or cheap to live in America, and it is not easy to start from scratch.

If you are currently supporting this work of the Lord, we kindly ask you, if it is in your possibilities, to consider raising the amount of your help. If you are not supporting this work, please consider the benefit of regular or one-time giving.

Great things are in our plans for the coming year, and lots of good and sound materials will be made available to the church and the world. As mentioned in the previous newsletter, the hardest part of my work is fundraising, but we need to do it because this is a work of the church, and we need our church family to help us in getting it done. We rejoice and thank God every time we get a message from someone who learned the truth and obeyed it after watching or reading any of the materials in which we have been involved. The course on I Corinthians has been recorded, having a total of 28 lessons. We are currently editing it and, Lord willing, will be ready and published by mid-December. A course for new converts as well as the videos of “Back to the Bible” are next in our planning, while getting the course on II Corinthians ready after them. In a world often driven by self-interest, we rejoice in knowing there are still righteous people who show mercy and give. Thank you so much for your prayers, words of encouragement, and generosity toward this work of the Lord, and also to our family.

May God bless you and your family richly today and always!

To Him be the glory!
